(1) What are the three fundamental features of a Smart Grid?

- It has the ability to sense the state of the network.
- It has the ability to control devices in the field to adjust the state of the network.
- It has the ability to use decision-support tools to use the sensed information to carry out control functions.